A junior developer, currently completing studies for a Diploma in Full Stack Software Development. Confident working within a team and individually, adept at prioritising workflow and meeting deadlines. I have a broad technical understanding with a personable approach to working with others, a very honest and empathetic individual that encourages enthusiasm in those around me. I have a diverse employment experience and have a proven record of success in numerous challenging environments, being asked to return to previous roles due to my dependability. I am highly motivated and keen to learn, constantly looking to develop my own skillset.
